Dr. Jahnavi Advocates Social Justice and Reservation Based on Social and Economic Backwardness

Dr. Jahnavi, Professor at the Law Department of Karnataka State Open University, Mysore, emphasized the principle of social justice and the true purpose of reservation during the Constitution Day celebrations at JSS College of Arts, Commerce, and Science, B N Road, Mysore.

Addressing the audience as the chief guest, Dr. Jahnavi highlighted the significance of India's constitution, hailed as one of the greatest in the world, for its emphasis on social justice. Presiding over the program, Prof. B.V. Sambasivaiah, the chief executive of the college, reflected on the extensive deliberations and efforts of the Constituent Assembly in drafting the constitution. He underscored the global influences and the meticulous process involved in crafting the constitution, paying tribute to the visionary leaders who contributed to its inception.

Indian languages are all symbols of Indian culture.

Prof. B.V. Sambasivaiah

"Multilingualism and multiculturalism are the cornerstones of India's rich heritage. In 1999, the United Nations and UNESCO designated the celebration of Mother Language Day, commemorating those who sacrificed their lives in Bangladesh in 1952 to establish Bengali as the national language. Language serves as the conduit for expressing thoughts and ideas, and a child learns their mother tongue from their parents. In today's globalized world, preserving one's mother tongue alongside acquiring proficiency in business languages is an art. Utilizing and promoting our mother tongues as much as possible is essential to preserving our cultural identity," remarked Prof. BV Sambasivaiah, Chief Executive of the college.

Matru Basha Divas was joyously celebrated at JSS College of Arts, Commerce, and Science, Ooty Road, Mysore, under the esteemed presence of Prof. B.V. Sambasivaiah. He emphasized the importance of linguistic diversity, noting that among the seven thousand languages spoken worldwide, all Indian languages serve as symbols of our rich cultural tapestry. Prof. Sambasivaiah urged language speakers to foster camaraderie and mutual respect.

Principal Dr. H.C. Honnappa underscored the significance of commemorating Mother Language Day in India, a country renowned for its pluralistic ethos. He expressed his pride in celebrating this occasion and hoped for its annual observance in similar fervor.

The Matru Bhasa Divas program saw enthusiastic participation from undergraduate and postgraduate students, who showcased 15 captivating drawings depicting the multicultural diversity of Indian mother tongues. Through folk, lyrical, and patriotic songs in Kannada, Manipuri, Malayalam, Telugu, and Hindi, students proudly represented their respective mother tongues.

Dr. B.S. Sudeep initiated the event with welcoming remarks, while student Ms. Sandhya invoked blessings for the occasion. Ms. Ananya skillfully compared the program, adding to the vibrant atmosphere of cultural celebration. Dr. Maheshwari N, the program organizer, ensured the smooth execution of the event.

“Celebrate women’s day to become voice for the voiceless”

- Dr S P Umadevi

Dr S P Umadevi a well-known litterateur of the city felt that the importance of the women’s day is not just to speak about the anguish of the woman rather to become a voice to the voiceless. She was speaking in connection with ‘International Women’s Day’ organised by the J S S College of Arts, Commerce & Science on 14th March 2022. She said that since the Vedic times to the most sophisticated modern age women have faced the same problem and exploitation. She also said that we should accept that women exploitation is not the dominant factor in the matriarchal society as it is hard to forget the patronage of men for women empowerment and with their support, we should take our responsibilities as challenges. In the due course the status of women has undergone a drastic change and her condition today is not unlike her predecessors. She also said even today many countries have refused to accept a woman as their leader but India is an exception where a woman is treated as a divine power for which we have to be grateful to Jyothi Bapule and Savithri Bai Bapule who encouraged women education. Without men women cannot achieve anything and it is true visa-versa. She strongly contended that certain characters in both men and women has to be opposed. Today there is an overall improvement in the life of women with a positive response from the society. There is a lot of improvement in the life of women as she is provided with academic and economic support which was deprived to women once upon a time. At present there are many role models in the form of Indira Gandhi, Kiran Bedi, Sudha Murthy, Nirmala Seetharaman and others. A woman is capable of balancing both personal and professional life. She also added that we cannot imitate men in all respect with our limitations we should lead a positive life.

Prof.B.V.Sambashivaiah presiding over the function said that women’s day has its own historical background with statistical analysis of women exploitation and empowerment. In 1977 UNO declared March 8th as International Women’s Day with the slogan ‘Gender equality of today for the sustainable tomorrow’. He said that we should be inspired by great women achievers in various field like Madam Curie, Malala. In this regard he said that we should remember with gratitude the support of the Sri Mutt for gender equality and women empowerment.

Dr.H.C.Honnappa, Principal, welcomed the gathering. Kumari.Sannidhi of I MSc rendered the invocation. Dr.Kumudini Achchi, Assistant Professor of MSW, proposed vote of thanks. Smt.Sujatha Kumari, Assistant Professor, Department of History, compered the program.

Veerashaiya Mutts playing key role in nation's development: Minister

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (RKB&DM)-

Maintaining that Veerashaiva Mutts are playing a key role in nation's development, Minister for Law and Parliamentary Affairs J.C. Madhuswamy said that it is important to remember the Founders of educational institutions as it is education which shapes our life and future.

He was speaking after inaugurating the Alumni Association meet of JSS College of Arts, Commerce and Science on Ooty Road at the College premises this morning.

Pointing out that he earned a degree studying at JSS Institutions at a troublesome period, Madhuswamy said that the institution has been playing a vital role in moulding the future of scores of students over the years.

Arguing that educational institutions are like sculptors who carve and chisel our lives through personality and professional development, the Minister said that even though he is a Minister today, he is like a student who needs to study daily as his portfolio demands that.

Lauding the Mutts for 'Akshara Dasoha', 'Anna Dasoha', 'Neeralu Dasoha' and the like, he called upon the alumni not to lose contact with their fellow members, as regular contacts and meetings will hugely help in further developing the institution they once studied.

MLC and former Minister A.H. Vishwanath, who presided, said he is proud to say that he was a student of the college, from where he earned his degree.

Recalling his student days at the college, Vishwanath attributed his political growth largely to what he had learned at JSS Institutions. Stressing on the need for imparting quality education, the MLC regretted that most of the Universities today are lacking in imparting training to students on how to lead a purposeful life. Contending that JSS is an institution that is free from any caste, creed or religious discrimination, he listed out the names of his teachers and some of his classmates.

Continuing, Vishwanath urged the Government to permit formation of Student Unions in institutions of higher learning as this will help in forging student unity and sharing and exchanging of ideas, knowledge and skills. "I will talk to the Govt. and the CM on the necessity for allowing Student Unions in educational institutions," he added.

Floral tributes were offered to the portrait of late Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Mahaswamiji. Earlier, the College Principal Dr. H.C. Honnappa welcomed the gathering.

College Chief Executive Prof. B. V. Sambashivaiah, faculty Dr. Vijaya Manjunath Guru and former MLC Prof. K.R. Mallikarjunappa were present.
