Best Practice - I

- 1. Title of the practice: JSSCACS Competitive Examination Training Cell
- 2. Objective of the Practice: Enhancing students' competitive abilities and motivating them for potential careers in both the government and private sectors.
- 3. The Context: Job sectors in India encompass various segments of the economy, each offering diverse professions and career opportunities that demand specific skills, specialties, and qualifications. The government sector, in particular, presents significant opportunities for career establishment and growth through competitive examinations conducted by different government departments.
- 4. The Practice: The College has established the JSSCACS Competitive Examination Training Cell, enrolling interested students and offering regular guidance classes and workshops. These sessions enhance essential skills such as basic language proficiency, general aptitude, general knowledge, and subject-specific knowledge in areas like mathematics, history, and geography. These skills are crucial for exams such as UPSC, KPSC, SSC, Railways, Banking, and other Civil Service examinations. Additionally, regular mock and practice exams are conducted to develop students' IQ, logical and critical thinking abilities, thereby building a strong foundation for their careers.
- 5. Evidence of Success: Regular coaching raises awareness about the diverse career opportunities in the government sector, encouraging students to participate in various competitive examinations. Each year, a significant number of students take exams conducted by UPSC, KPSC, the Railway Recruitment Board, and for Army recruitment. Many also pursue bank recruitment exams and those organized by JSS Mahavidyapeetha, leading to placements in various institutions under its umbrella. The cell's activities not only inform students about their community and civic responsibilities but also guide them in making informed and realistic career choices.
- 6. Problems Encountered and Resources required: The success of the Competitive Examination Cell largely depends on the quality of its teaching faculty, who has specific financial requirements. Building financial resources to support the cell's activities is a significant challenge for the college. Additionally, maintaining student attendance is difficult, as the constraints of the academic calendar sometimes hinder students' ability to attend classes regularly.

Best Practice II

1. Title of the Practice 2: JSS Radio 91.2 FM

2. Objectives of the Practice

- ✓ To promote Community Radio as a tool for the empowerment, national integration, community health education, peace and harmony, agriculture, development and inclusive growth by disseminating information amongst youth, women, physically challenged and weaker section of the society.
- ✓ To provide better communities through health education with the use of latest technologies, innovations and research methodologies.
- ✓ To develop a pool of experts and provide advisory services in the field of education, health etc, for the benefit of different sections of the society.
- ✓ To campaign and create awareness regarding National Health Programmes like, Pulse Polio Programme, National Oral Health Programme, National Programme for Control of Blindness & Visual Impairment, Prevention, Control of Communicable and Non-communicable diseases.
- ✓ To provide education in various fields, including value and spiritual education, yoga, meditation etc.
- ✓ To educate people and to work for the eradication of moral and social evils of all kinds.
- ✓ To create awareness relating to the preservation of the Environment/Ecology and Sustainability Development.

3. The Context

- ✓ To develop a pool of experts and provide advisory services in the field of education, health etc, for the benefit of different sections of the society.
- ✓ To Campaign and Create awareness regarding National Health programs, create awareness relating to the preservation of the Environment/ Ecology and Sustainability Development,
- ✓ To promote and motivate rural education.

4. The Practice

Community Radio broadcast with the objective of serving the community in the area of National Health Programmes, social development programmes, education, culture, heritage, and other awareness programmes by involving members of the community.

The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting invited applications through a national advertisement. In respect to this, the proposal was prepared and submitted. After all clearance frequency allocation was made. After the approval of Information and Broadcasting Ministry of Govt. of India, the JSS Community Radio Centre was established in the college campus.

With the divine blessings of His Holiness Jagadguru Sri ShivarathriDeshikendraMahaswamiji the JSS Radio 91.2 FM was inaugurated by Dr. L. Murugan, the Minister of State for Fishery, Animal Husbandry, Dairy and Information and Broadcasting, Govt. of India on 29 August 2021.

PROGRAMME BROADCASTING TIME: Every day from 7 AM - 8 AM and 4 PM - 5 PM

5. Evidence of Success

Radio is a very important tool for the promotional and educational components of National programmes, rural education. In India, radio reaches a large audience, and those shows which are well-targeted, researched, pre-tested, and adequately placed in the broadcast schedule become attractive, competitive and cost-effective ways to communicate new and time-tested advice.

The list of programmes broadcasted like on Covid 19 pandemic, Tuberculosis, HIV and AIDS, quit tobacco usage, alcohol de-addiction, blood donation, H1N1, Mother& Child Nutrition, School Health Programme, Prevention and Control of Communicable and Non-communicable diseases, Safe Water drinking etc.

The Radio has been getting overwhelming appreciative responses from its honorable listeners through letters and phone calls and mobile messages. Motivated by the talks, people volunteered and participated in the blood donation camps. During Covid-19 pandemic stress related mental health issues were addressed and counseled. According to the staff of JSS Radio 91.2 FM, listeners are so much inspired by the programmes that they have been coming out with requests for more programmes related to issues like promotion of health education, agricultural, rural education, environmental issues etc.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

The biggest challenge today for community radio in India is mobilization of material and human resources for effectively installing, running and maintaining the studio, station and for delivering valuable, useful and necessary programmes. The Government has come forward to allow limited commercial advertisements which probably may help to some extent. The status of press media should be accorded to community radios for effective participation in welfare activities.

Any other information

This kind of research explains radio listening culture is still alive and how the Community Radio is needed for the integrated development of society. Central and State governments have to give more advertisement and sponsored programmes and thereby financial support in order to strengthen the Community Radio stations.
